Administrative History

Planting Fields Foundation came into custody of this Collection as it was gathered by the Secretary of the Coe Foundation and then left to the Friends of Planting Fields.

Biographical Notes

The tenth of ten children, William Robertson was born on June 8, 1869 in England. He and his family immigrated to the United States in 1883. He began working in the mail office of what would become Johnson and Higgins Insurance Company and worked his way up to President and then Chairman of the Board. He married three times, and unfortunately his first two wives passed away before their time. His first marriage, which was childless, was to Jane (Jeannie) Hutchinson Falligant, in 1893. On June 4, 1900, Coe married Mai Huttleston Rogers. Their marriage produced four children and the development of Planting Fields. He leased and eventually purchased the Byrne estate, on the same property of today's Planting Fields. That house burned down and Coe Hall was built in the same location. Mai died in 1924. In 1926, Coe married Caroline Graham Slaughter. At Planting Fields, W.R. Coe was actively involved with developing and improving the collections of rhododendrons, azaleas, camellias, and hibiscus. Coe had a particular liking for new plant varieties and modern growing techniques. In this spirit, he deeded the estate to the State of New York in 1949. He had a deep love with the American West, and with his money, among other things, began programs of American Studies for high school teachers of American History at colleges and universities around the country. W.R. Coe died in his recently acquired home in Palm Beach, Florida, on March 15, 1955 from an asthma attack.

Scope and Content

The American Studies Collection is arranged alphabetically by college or university. Information relating to the programs at each individual institution are kept together by institution. The collection also includes information on the influential people from the Coe Foundation who organized the program and articles relating to the state of higher education during the 1950's and 1960's. This collection can be used for the following research topics: high school teachers who participated in the program, institutions who participated in the program, conferences and session topics for individual years at each institution, critiques from teachers about the program, the state of higher education during the 1950's and 1960's, and the organization of the program from the standpoint of the Coe Foundation.
