Exploring Texture

What visual textures can you find in nature? Take a close-up photo of objects you find at Planting Fields or at home with each of these textures. Some objects might have more than one texture. Check off the textures your photographed. Got four in a row? You win!

Share your photos online and use #loveplantingfields.

Exploring Texture

Texture is everywhere around us, and we can capture the textures we see using a pencil. Practice creating texture by drawing lines in the box that represent each of the textures listed below:

| SMOOTH | BUMPY | SCRATCHY |

Now you can try to capture the texture of something you find in nature. Select an object to sketch and use your pencil to capture the texture using line, just like you did above.
